“ I only met Charlie in January, but he was the kind of person whose sweet spirit makes an indelible impression. We communicated briefly after his diagnosis, and even then he was kind and just lovely. His passing is a real loss. And every time I beat my scrambled eggs REALLY hard I will remember him.

I have known Charlie since 2001 as a brother of my dear friend Molly.

He was so sweet and ready to help anytime.

*As a violinist, I was very impressed by Charlie's tremendous support to all
We all know how much he had done for all programs in Bowers house and much volunteer's work he had done to support Arts.*

I would like to post a small reel of music in honour of you.

Michel and I performed it one time at Bowers house.

Charlie we will miss you dearly- you will not be forgotten!

Rest in peace!

“ Charlie and I shared 13 years together, his Love will live on in my heart forever. The Rainbow 🌈 Bridge will be full with the dogs that Charlie loved so much. Tessa, Cassious, and JJ to name just a few who aren't pictured here with Axel, Penny, and Millie, whom we raised together.
I Will Always Love You, Charlie Read.

A million years ago I attended high school with Molly and her older brother Charlie. There weren't many friends for me at that time, but Charlie was always genuine, sweet, and kind to a scared lower classman, and I never forgot it. My condolences to all of Charlie's family. Rest in peace, Charlie, and thanks for being my first secret crush.

“ I loved Charlie....

Leigh Ann Gillespie - April 04, 2023 at 08:20 AM

So many people loved Charlie. Though I only knew him 3 or 4 years it felt as if we'd been friends forever! He had a way of making me feel special from the day I met him. He called me by name long before I remembered his. I'd ask someone else , "who is that nice guy? He's always so happy to see me." That's how Charlie made us all feel. I miss him already. I will cherish our fun weekend memories of staying at The Bowers House. I love you Charlie! ❤️

I've only known Charlie since he came to Bowers House and was grateful that he encouraged us to continue our Writer's Guild and would usually join us. He was friendly, generous, and kind with so many friends, creative and artistic connections, and a willingness to share them with others. I will miss your presence.

Remembering Charlie during this time I wish I was in Canon. Great hugs, the warmest smile, music played with utter joy and as beloved as any "little brother" I've been blessed to know. Special love and sympathy to Lee, Henry and Molly. 💔
