“ I'm only just now finding out about her passing to glory. I was a young man, seeking God's call circa 2008, and we connected in a chat room for a revival meeting online.

Since that time, I stayed in touch when possible, and she was like a second mother in many ways, especially because she ironically was musically gifted like my own mom, who also raised 6 of us kids. I then had a dark season, even in backsliding, and had mostly refrained from an online presence, but had reached out to her in 2022 when I was starting to try to get back on track. She said it was a God thing that I had messaged, and as always, though having her battles physically, as well as her own kin to care for, she never once hesitated to so selflessly sow words of encouragement in Jesus to me.

I'm just weeping and choking up with such gratitude for her life's testimony and how it personally affected my call in God. I share this in hopes that it will encourage her family to know how truly she reflected His love and glory to so many. Thank You Lord for my sister and her race, well-run. May we all walk in the same selfless determination to see the one person in front of us, and to speak life into their eternal destiny. Amen. 🙏

“ Mrs. Moon, although we've never got a chance to speak in person, I've always meant to one day visit you and yours. Your family has become a very important part of my life, as Joshua, his sisters and his brother have over the last couple years become a heavenly light in my life in friendship. Raised through Christ, you are all a gift in this world to anyone you and yours met. You fought hard until the very end, and despite the pain, you loved with a light in your eyes and heart. May you find comfort in God's Embrace and peace in His Kingdom.
