“ Jane, we were saddened to learn about Stan's passing. Your family's spiritual DNA connected with ours throughout the years, and we have good memories of your family visiting your Turner family in Bristol., of which the matriarch was Sis. Betty Turner ...So, stay steady , knowing that a reunion day is coming for us all. Your Bristol friends, Mildred Goodson and Sandra Willis.

“Daddy O was and will always be so very special to our family. He touched SO many people. One of my favorite memories was sitting by him during many PCCA baseball games. He never let an umpire get away with anything!! Many memories of Stan and Meme sharing their love of watching their grandchildren play the game he so loved! He was thrilled that Clay played baseball at his beloved Emmanuel College. He was a surrogate grandfather to my boys when my dad was called home. It will ALWAYS be a blessing to myself and my family to have known Stan. His legacy will live on through his children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and all those he knew and loved. “I have known Stan my entire life through his friendship with my dad, Bill Nash. I love seeing the two of them together... Laughing, telling story after story on each other, talking about the old days. I can't count the number of times, in the middle of a family event or one of the kids or grandkids' ball games, Daddy would pick up the phone to call Stan and share it with him, and Stan would do the same. They really enjoyed life and knew the other one would rejoice with them. Stan always had a smile and always seemed joyful and I will miss that and I will miss what that brought out in my Dad... I feel like a little part of him will be missing now. Our hearts ache for you on this side of heaven, But we rejoice in the comfort of knowing he is at the feet of Jesus and is perfectly healed, and will be using that beautiful voice of his to sing with the angels! We send you our love and prayers, and we send gratitude for the life of Stanley B. Oliver

Stan was a long time friend and co-worker while we worked during our years in the Insurance business. I will miss the conversations we have had since we both retired. He was a true friend and a believer. For sure a real Dawg fan. His family can have the comfort that He was a Gentleman and Christian. His Legacy will live on.
